EXCORCISMS ARE REAL BUT THE CATHOLIC CHURCH CAN'T DO THEM

To be possessed by the devil is to have a maglien inside you. It is possible to get the maglien to leave by using the actual words of Jesus Christ undistorted by changed the illuminati's made in the Bible.

A person can survive having a maglien leave there body. The Maglien doesn't kill the host it is a parasite that takes over the host. But they can't always keep control. Sometimes they will leave on their own regard.

The Catholic Church used to be able to do exorcisms 500 years ago but they magliens quickly targeted the fringe element of the Church that was performing exorcisms and shut them down and replaced them with imposters. Now the true people who can do exorcisms are not Catholic but usually have Christian backgrounds of some type.

Magliens can be driven out by Jesus words because they fear him. They can also be driven out by Lao-Tzu's words because they are afraid of him as well. They can also be removed by riddling them forever. They can't answer riddles or puzzles because they don't have any sense of logic. If you keep asking them questions their minds grow tired and they die so they'll flee a host if they think they're about to die.

People who are possessed by magliens must feed on other humans to keep their flesh dying. So that's why people who are being exorcised look like zombies. Like vampires they need human blood and flesh in order to stay healthy.
